MAN IS HURT IN SHOTGUN INCIDENT AT TOWER BLOCK

Victim suffers injuries to hand and arm

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MAN was treated for hand and arm injuries after a shotgun was fired in a Harlow estate on Sunday afternoon.

Police responding to reports that a firearm had been discharged set up a crime scene at a car park near the Willowfield tower block at 12.45pm.

Officers also attended a property in Little Pynchons where they seized a shotgun.

The 23-year-old victim was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where he was treated for a minor gunshot wound to his hand and a broken arm.

Assault

Police said on Monday they had arrested two men on suspicion of attempted murder and four others on suspicion of various other offences including assault, grievous bodily harm, possession of firearms offences and assisting an offender.

They were taken to Harlow police station where, after questioning, five were released without charge

The sixth appeared in court at Chelmsford on Tuesday.

This week, residents living in Willowfield spoke of their shock at the incident.

Marius Ciocan, 41, said: "It is a very quiet area and I've never known anything like this before."

"I was going to work around lunchtime and I saw the police were out.

"I have lived here for three years and this is the first time anything like this has happened."

Rachel King said: "The little car park area outside the tower block had been taped off."

"I saw a policeman, but all he said was there had been a serious incident."

Her neighbour, Jack Walker,

Be part of our growing online communityTime to apply for secondary school places

THE application process for parents and carers of children who are due to start secondary school in Essex next September got under way this week.

Essex County Council started accepting applications on Monday, with the deadline set for October 31.

Online applications can be made at www.essex.gov.uk/admissions. The website also enables parents to search for information about schools, read Ofsted reports and check admissions criteria and transport policy information.

Cllr Ray Gooding, the county council's cabinet member for education and lifelong learning, said: "It is important parents make use of all six preferences available to maximise the opportunity of a place at a preferred school."

"I would also encourage them to consider the admissions criteria for each school they wish to apply for and to read all of the published information to make an informed application."

Applications submitted after the deadline will be considered once all on-time applications have been determined.

Casper comes top in police puppy poll

A PUBLIC poll held by Essex Police to name one of eight puppies born at its dog unit has ended with a majority favouring Casper.

Seven of the German Shepherd pups were given names beginning with the letter C – Cilla, Cola, Cairo, Carter, Chester, Cain and Cuba – while the public were asked to pick a name for the eighth from a choice of four.

Casper secured 39 per cent of the vote, ahead of Chaos, Costa and Cuba.

MP welcomes changes to planning regulations

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

NEW Government-imposed planning regulations will offer stronger protection against illegal traveller sites, according Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

The package of reforms unveiled by Communities Secretary Greg Clark on Tuesday require councils, where there is a need, to provide sites for travellers who move around.

However, travellers who no longer move around will now be subject to the same planning regulations as everyone else.

The number of travellers on unauthorised sites increased four-fold between 2000 and 2009. The Government said the reforms will tackle the problem and ease tensions between those setting up illegal encampments and people living nearby.

Any new permanent traveller sites will now be subject to the same planning legislation as housebuilders, with greater protection for the Green Belt and areas of outstanding natural beauty.

Mr Halfon welcomed the changes which he is confident will help to resolve the problems Harlow has experienced over the past two years when scores of illegal sites sprung up around the town.

The issue came to head in March when Harlow Council secured an interim High Court injunction banning illegal encampments throughout the town. It is currently working to secure a permanent ban.

Commenting on the Government's reforms, Mr Halfon said: "This is the first stage in making sure we have protection for residents as well as fairness regarding travellers. The measures are important, particularly in that they ensure traveller sites cannot be built on Green Belt land."

"I had a meeting with Baroness Williams, the minister in charge of encampments and with members of Harlow Council. I am very happy to see that the Government listened to the concerns raised and that they will be taking further steps to solve the illegal encampments issue in the months ahead."

It remains unclear as to how the changes will be implemented in Harlow and whether any new sites will be built.

Council leader Jon Clempner said it will review the new rules but added that more needs to be done to address the issue of illegal encampments.

"The council will continue to work with Essex County Council to secure a permanent injunction and we will carry on with the call to the Government for the current powers to address unauthorised traveller encampments to be changed and made stronger," he said.

Changes outlined in a Government document amend the definition of a traveller to limit it to those who are permanently nomadic. Those who have settled permanently will be treated no differently to the wider population.

Mr Clark said: "This new policy strengthens the hand of councils to tackle unauthorised development in their area, ensures all communities are treated equally and that the protection of the Green Belt is enforceable."

"They are completely different incidents," the police spokeswoman added.

■ Shea Kenny, 25, of Abbeydale Close, Harlow, appeared at Chelmsford Magistrates Court on Tuesday charged with grievous bodily harm with intent and possession of a firearm with intent to endanger life.

The death is being treated as non-suspicious and a file will be prepared for the Essex coroner.

added: "I didn't hear any shots, but there was some police tape around the area. I still feel safe as a resident and it hasn't affected me too much."

One resident, who did not wish to be named, said: "It's all public knowledge what's happened, but I feel as safe here as I would any other area."

"It's a shame it's often Harlow where these things happen and the town gets bad publicity."

Police confirmed the incident was not connected to the discovery of a man's body which was found a short time later in a car parked in the nearby Kingsland estate.

The dead man, who was in his 30s, was found by police after they were contacted at 1.15pm on Sunday.

The death is being treated as non-suspicious and a file will be prepared for the Essex coroner.

Mum's plea after family photos archive is lost

Two hard drives were left in a cabinet donated to charity

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A DEVASTATED mother is "hoping for a miracle" after two hard drives containing 25,000 photographs of her family were mistakenly given to a charity shop.

Emma Gray donated a TV cabinet and small set of drawers to the ECCO charity shop in Edinburgh Way on Monday, August 16, but inside one of the drawers were two hard drives containing the pictures, and some videos, mainly of her children.

Emma returned to ECCO as soon as she realised the mistake but the cabinet had been sold.

ECCO staff have been unable to tell her what happened to the hard drives despite tracing the person who bought the furniture.

Lost

"I've lost 14 years of photographs of my children growing up," said mother-of-four Emma, who lives with her partner in Church Langley.

"I feel sick."

On the hard drives were thousands of photographs of her four children, Elloise, 13, Ava, 11, Isla, three, and Toby, one, including pictures from family holidays and days out.

"When we moved and the items didn't fit into our home, my partner suggested donating them to a charity shop. I'd put the hard drives in the drawer to keep them safe, and I just didn't think when I donated them. I am absolutely devastated," said 31-year-old Emma.

"I'm just hoping for a miracle, and that the person who has them, returns them. They are of no value to anyone else but us," she said.

One of the hard drives is black with WD elements written on it and the other is blue and shiny.

Emma has also checked pawn brokers in the town to see if anyone has sold the hard drives, which she says are worth around £30.

If you think you may have the hard drives, please contact the Star by emailing star@hertsessexnews.co.uk or calling 01992 663255. The family are offering a reward for the safe return of the hard drives.

Security firm donates cash to support town's first responders

THANK YOU: From left, emergency care assistant Simon Steadman, CFR Andy Cole, CFR group co-ordinator Dave Thurgood, G4S regional account manager Paul Jones and G4S site security manager Kevin Weatherley

A TEAM OF volunteers helping to save lives in Harlow have received a financial boost.

The Harlow Community First Responders, which was set up to support the East of England Ambulance Service NHS Trust, has been presented with £500 by security company G4S. It will use the money to buy equipment.

The cheque was handed to the CFRs by G4S regional account manager Paul Jones, and Kevin Weatherley, G4S site security manager at GlaxoSmithKline in Harlow on Wednesday of last week.

Jack Squires, CFR lead for West Essex, said: "We would like to thank G4S for this kind donation. We are completely self-funded so this donation will help us to purchase new equipment.

"We have decided to buy a pulse oximeter which measures the oxygen levels within the blood, allowing better treatment of patients suffering with breathing difficulties."

Harlow CFRs are members of the public trained by the ambulance service to respond to incidents in areas where they work and live. When they arrive on the scene they carry out the first assessment on the patient and can administer any treatment they deem necessary within the limits of their training before paramedics arrive.

Protection for the vulnerable

SIR Next Friday a major moral issue will be debated in the House of Commons. It is the second reading of the Assisted Dying Bill which is literally a matter of life and death.

Will Robert Halfon be there to vote against this unwise piece of legislation? In the past he has spoken powerfully against assisted dying but in recent correspondence with me he has failed to give any assurance that he will be present for the vote.

Saying no to assisted suicide isn't about artificially prolonging the lives of sick people, it's about making sure that doctors do not have the power to end the lives of their patients.

Over three-quarters of UK GPs oppose assisted suicide and all the major disability rights groups also oppose any change in the law, including Mencap, Scope, Disability Rights UK and Veterans Association UK.

For the most vulnerable members of our society the right to die can so easily become a duty to die. Assisted suicide laws suggest that there are some lives not worth living. For those who are sick, elderly or disabled, it's easy to feel like they are a burden to friends, family and even the health service. Assisted suicide sends out the message that they would be better off dead. This is not compassion.

The proponents of the Assisted Dying Bill have deliberately chosen a Friday for its second reading because they know that many MPs are in their constituencies on that day and they have more chance of winning the vote.

So I ask again, will Mr Halfon be present in the House of Commons on September 11 to vote against this misguided and dangerous bill?

Signs needed at roundabout

SIR I live at Church Langley and very recently there have been changes to the Clock Tower roundabout layout with the addition of a filter lane for traffic coming from the M11 to turn towards Harlow town centre.

In the past week myself, my two daughters and a friend have all experienced very dangerous situations where drivers using the new lane have not stopped but pulled straight out in front of us.

There does not seem to be adequate warning to drivers that they need to give way here. I also feel that, as this is new drivers are expecting to have a dedicated lane to enter when in fact there is only a single carriageway carrying other traffic from the roundabout, which has right of way. The result is they do not stop or are going too fast to stop at the very inadequate give-way line.

This needs serious attention as I am sure accidents will occur here unless appropriate signage is put in place.

No crossing on busy road

SIR I quite agree with the correspondent James Gamble about all the road changes, especially the new roundabout at Bush Fair (Letters, August 20).

Apart from the fact that motorists are not using it properly, my other concern is that they have not put a crossing there. So how is one supposed to cross the road?

I am sure the traffic is not going to stop for pedestrians and Southern Way is a very busy road at all times. So this is just another waste of money.

Tories want to turn back time

SIR How telling that in his gushing praise of the first 100 days of Tory government Robert Halfon, who wants the Conservatives to be known as the Workers Party, didn't mention his party's attempts to crack down on the influence of trade unions and severely limit their freedom to disagree, sending workers' rights back by at least a century.

Parking woe at Stansted

SIR The public are constantly being updated on improvements to facilities at Stansted Airport but something needs to be done about some of the parking procedures and costs.

I recently had to drop off my daughter, her partner and four young children for a flight to Greece at 4.30am.

When I got up to the drop-off area there were no available spaces and we had to double park, as did many other drivers. This brought the through traffic to a standstill.

Once this had eased slightly I then found one of the ticket payment lanes was closed and another blocked by a customer having trouble with the machine.

Through no fault of my own I ended up paying in excess of £10 for what should have been £2.50. If this is happening quite regularly, which it must be, then the airport are on a good little earner.

Name and address supplied

Problem with online permits

SIR I work frequently in Harlow as a funeral celebrant and as part of my job visit families in the town. Many live in areas where parking permits are required and I have had first hand experience of the problems caused by not being given a permit.

A significant number of my bereaved families don't have access to the internet and not all of these are elderly folk by any means. I read with surprise that the permit system is about to become digital and the impression given is that this will be total.

Why is there an automatic assumption by local and national government, as well as many large companies, that everyone has a computer and that they have the skills needed to use it efficiently? I worry that there are large numbers of people who will be sidelined by this attitude.

Are there any plans in hand for people who can't access online? Is there going to be a part and part system? Do the demographics of Harlow compare with those of other areas where a digital system works well?

I am not against technology or change and I'm not in any way a luddite. I use computers every day – I couldn't function without them – but I do have to deal with people who find them confusing.

Group will press for public to have a voice

Residents will be asked to join group

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE group steering plans to regenerate Harlow town centre should be made up of representatives from the public, council and business community, say campaigners.

Save Harlow Town Centre, led by Harlow Conservatives, will send a set of proposals to Harlow Council ahead of its meeting on Thursday, September 24. They include the opportunity for the public to nominate people to serve on the group.

Clr Andrew Johnson, who is spearheading the campaign, said: "We need a group of all the talents. It is clear to me this campaign is about the public and a group of politicians sitting around talking endlessly just won't work."

"We want this to be an inclusive group that includes members of the public of different ages, and with different backgrounds. This is a new and exciting campaign and requires fresh faces and original thinking."

Save Harlow Town Centre hopes to breathe life back into the area by working with the council, residents and businesses.

The campaign has been welcomed by members of the ruling Labour group, who earlier this year set aside a £1m fund to support the town centre. They also say a project manager will be appointed with a specific responsibility for the town centre.

Last month council leader Jon Clempner said: "When I was reappointed leader of the council in May I said that improving the town centre was one of my key priorities and the council has set aside £1m in its budget to support the regeneration of the town centre.

"I am pleased that the Harlow Star shares the council's commitment to improve the town centre by backing this campaign."

"The council is already working with a range of partners and the town's MP to achieve improvements in the town centre. It is one of those issues where there is agreement across the political groups.

"This is very much a long-term project but I am confident that this campaign will help us to generate the confidence for the private sector to invest in Harlow."

This week Cllr Johnson added: "When I launched this campaign at full council I stated that we are always at our best when we work together for the good of our residents."

"I threw down the gauntlet and am delighted he [Cllr Clempner] has picked that gauntlet up and is prepared to work with us to create real and lasting change in our town centre."

A survey produced by the group has already gathered more than 100 responses online, with scores of responses being delivered to the Civic Centre by post.

IN NEED: Market Square

DELIGHTED: Cllr Johnson

Cllr Johnson said: "I have been delighted and overwhelmed so far from the public reaction to the campaign."

"These are exciting times and we need the widest possible range of talent. But also making sure we have a chair and vice chair who are independent and not current politicians.

"This is not usual practice in Harlow but in seeking real and positive change we need to think outside of the box. We have an opportunity now to come together, work together and we really can Save Harlow Town Centre if we do it together."

He added: "The response has been staggering. This is an issue people really care about and have engaged with. It is heartening when there are constant reports of people not interested in community or politics to see the critics proved wrong."

"There is still time however to make your views known, we want everyone to have the opportunity to have their say and help frame what they want to see in Harlow town centre."

The survey runs until Monday, September 21 at midday. To have your say fill out the online survey on the Harlow Star website or complete the form printed below.

GREEN FINGERS: Herts and Essex Community Farm founder Elliot Wollen

Sophie Christopky explores one man's attempt to bring co-operative cultivation to the community and share the joy of growing your own food.

WHAT would you do if you wanted an allotment but the waiting list was five years long?

"I couldn't wait," said Elliot Wollen, the founder and driving force behind the Herts and Essex Community Farm.

In 2013 he returned to Harlow from a year and a half of travelling around Australia. "I worked on farms the whole time, from mango to potato to organic market farms, to picking grapes and everything in between. I came back and just wanted to get growing."

He started looking for alternatives and found a three-acre piece of land in High Wycombe advertised on Gumtree. "It had polytunnels, raised beds, an orchard and a pond," he said. "It was all set up and ready to go."

He managed to raise £6,000 to secure the land and kickstart the community growing project but at the last minute there was a setback. "On the day that I was going to sign the lease the owner rang me to say she didn't want to go ahead anymore."

After more searching, Elliot found another site tucked away in a residential estate in Harlow, a disused and overgrown half-acre patch at the edge of an allotment site.

Experiment

"In hindsight it was a blessing in disguise; the three acres would have been too much. Instead we have been able to experiment, make mistakes and learn, and make real progress here. I've learned so much. I'm learning all the time."

Three years on and the farm is beautiful. Giant sunflowers nod over beds lush with courgette and marrow plants. Polytunnels are filled with tomatoes, and leafy carrot tops cover raised beds. There's a kitchen hut where a steady supply of coffee is available, a playhouse, and an orchard has been planted at the back. It's accessible for people of all abilities and ages.

Elliot does paid work in the evenings so that he is free to spend his day time at the farm. The project is financed entirely by fundraising and run entirely by volunteers who are welcomed on their own terms.

"Some community farms ask for a regular commitment from volunteers, but I think works out better if people can come down for whatever time they want," said Elliot. "You can come for an hour, and still take away a bag of vegetables."

"If you want to commit a lot of time you can really shape the way the project goes. The more you are here the more you benefit from it."

Down on the farm where volunteers get a taste of the good life

TAKE YOUR PICK: Sophie Christopky helps Elliot Wollen harvest the runner beans

Produce is shared between the volunteers and Streets2Homes, the Harlow-based charity which helps the homeless.

Near to Streets2Homes is the Rainbow Services carpentry workshop, which offers placements for offenders to undertake their community service hours and is currently in the process of building the farm a wooden pirate ship.

Part of Elliot's long-term vision is to expand the project on a second, larger site and to have a recruitment scheme for people in recovery from drug addiction or prison.

On Saturday the farm hosted Farm Fest, a free annual community event. "It's about raising awareness," said volunteer Munaza Ali. "People might have heard about the farm but they might not understand what it really is so it was an invitation to come down, to let everyone know they are welcome to come and find out."

Herts and Essex Community Farm is about much more than just fruit and veg, not that isn't important in itself. It is an inspiring, creative, socially-minded project that is thriving thanks to the many people who have been drawn to it.

And what advice does Elliot have for other people sitting on a big idea? "Just do it. Throw yourself at it as much as possible, talk to as many people as possible and be prepared to work your ass off."

"This project has completely changed my life. Before, I didn't know what I wanted to do but now I know, this is what I really want to do."

Hospice reaps the rewards of gardeners' annual fundraiser

AN annual fundraiser continues to bear fruit for St Clare Hospice.

The green-fingered owners of 27 gardens in and around Harlow and Hastingwood invited in members of the public during the two-day open gardens weekend and raised £6,000 for the hospice.

From cottage and farmhouse gardens to courtyards and allotments, there was plenty to see for lovers of horticulture. This year, for the first time, the venues included the 16th century walled garden at Harlow Museum.

Many of the garden owners provided additional attractions such as music and raffles as well as stalls selling plants, bric-a-brac, crafts and refreshments.

A family fun day with a bouncy castle and children's activities was also held at Gibson Court, Harlow, on both days.

The fundraiser is held by the St Clare Hospice friends group and this year's was the last to be organised by St Clare stalwart Ann Gould.

St Clare community fundraiser Danielle De'ath said: "From small acorns, mighty oaks grow and under Ann's careful cultivation, our open gardens weekend has blossomed into one of our most popular annual events."

"We would like to thank Ann for her unwavering commitment and enthusiasm over the years for helping sow the seeds of such a successful fundraising event."

Plan for specialist 24-hr stroke units

But patients would go to Romford for treatment

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

STROKE patients in Harlow would be taken to 20 miles to Romford for emergency care under plans to establish 24-hour specialist units.

Health chiefs say the proposals aim to increase survival rates and boost the chances of recovery with minimal long-term disability.

The public and NHS employees are being given the chance to have their say on the plans, which are being proposed by the West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group (WECCG).

Dr Angus Henderson, Uttlesford GP and WECCG stroke lead, said: "We are very excited about the potential for improving stroke care for local people. If we commission urgent care services from specialised units, local people will get the best possible care at the right time which has huge benefits in terms of minimising the impact of stroke."

The proposals focus on the first 72 hours of stroke care as those can have the biggest impact on a person's chances of survival and possibilities of recovery.

Nationally, urgent services are improving with some hospital stroke units providing highly specialised care 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Specialist

These 'hyper-acute' stroke units ensure patients get the care they need from highly trained professionals and specialist equipment as soon as possible.

The nearest hyper-acute stroke unit for the majority of people in and around Harlow is at Queen's Hospital in Rom-ford. Other nearby hospitals able to provide round the clock specialised stroke services include Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge, Broomfield Hospital in Chelmsford and Lister Hospital in Stevenage.

Under the plans, patients will go to a hyper-acute unit for the first 72 hours before returning to local stroke rehabilitation care where appropriate.

The CCG is also planning additional investment in the acute stroke unit at The Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow to ensure the "best possible follow-up care and rehabilitation".

A spokeswoman for PAH said: "The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust is delighted to be working on proposals for such a positive improvement to stroke care for patients in our community."

"We will continue to treat patients from West Essex during the rehabilitation phase of their recovery should these plans go ahead."

Important

"It is important to stress that at this stage these are still proposals and individuals can make their views known by completing the feedback questionnaire."

The final date for feedback is Tuesday, October 20 and all parts of the community, including people not affected by stroke, are invited to have their say.

You can view the document and give your views by visiting the West Essex CCG's website at www.westessexccg.nhs.uk/have-your-say/give-your-views, or by writing to NHS West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group, Building 4, Spencer Close, St Margaret's Hospital, The Plain, Epping, CM16 6TN.

Ambulance patients full of praise for paramedics

PARAMEDICS have scored top marks in the latest survey of patients.

Frontline staff working for the East of England Ambulance Service Trust, which covers Essex and five other counties, were described as faultless, exemplary and super kind by patients.

And all of those who responded to the survey said they were either very satisfied or satisfied with the care they received.

In addition, control room staff who handle the 999 calls at centres throughout the region were also praised, with 100 per cent of respondents saying their call was very acceptable, acceptable or fairly acceptable.

More than 98 per cent of the 96 respondents said the service had exceeded or met their expectations.

Robert Morton, who was recently appointed as the trust's new chief executive, said: "I am pleased to see these outstanding results and see the excellent patient care at the centre of the service."

Sign up for EAA's yellow fundraiser

FUNDRAISERS for the Essex Air Ambulance are hoping an outbreak of yellow fever will boost their coffers later this month.

The charity is calling on Harlow residents to raise money to keep the life-saving helicopter flying by joining its Go Yellow celebration during National Air Ambulance Week from September 21-27.

"Why not throw a yellow-themed dinner party, wear yellow for the day or live it up with a yellow cocktail or smoothie evening with friends?" said a spokesman.

"Whatever you decide, simply ask your friends, colleagues or guests to make a donation to Essex Air Ambulance."

Last year's Go Yellow campaign raised more than £24,000.

Everyone who registers to take part will be entered into a free prize draw to win an overnight stay at Hanbury Manor in Ware.

To register and receive a free fundraising pack call 0345 2417 690 or visit www.EssexAirAmbulance.uk.com.

Crowds meet VIP* visitors

(*that's Very Important Pigs)

YOUNG fans of the popular children's television character Peppa Pig trotted along to the Harvey Centre on Saturday to meet their cartoon hero.

Hundreds of families headed for the town centre where Peppa, her parents Mummy and Daddy Pig and brother George, were holding court.

The visit was the highlight of a day of child-friendly activities laid on by the centre over the bank holiday weekend including free face-painting and an arts and crafts workshop.

Centre manager Bryan Young said: "We occasionally have celebrity appearances but Peppa Pig and her family proved one of the most popular."

"Lots of families turned up on Saturday to get their picture taken with the famous pig."

He added: "We'll be hosting further free events for children throughout the year so check our website and Facebook page for more information."

Foreign traditions take the place of usual festivities

A CELEBRATION of diversity was held at a Harlow primary school when it replaced its traditional summer fete with an afternoon of foreign cultural activities.

Freshwaters Primary tapped into the multi-cultural nature of the school to hold a family picnic and activity day.

Country dancing, mask making and crafts were among the activities which took place, while sporty students and their parents enjoyed a game of rounders. The highlight of the afternoon was a talent show.

Headteacher Marios Solomonides said: "All in all it was a fantastic afternoon filled with laughter, music and families spending time together."

GET YOUR KICKS: A martial arts display formed part of the show

"It felt like a real community coming together and it showed our families how important they are to us."

"We don't want them to be on the outskirts of the school; this school belongs to them as much as it belongs to our pupils."

Results on upward curve across county's primaries

THE percentage of pupils achieving expected levels in reading, writing and mathematics at primary schools in Essex has increased.

Data released by the Department for Education shows 81 per cent of 11-year-olds achieved level four or higher in this year's SATS tests in the three core subjects – two per cent higher than that 2014 benchmark.

The figure is above the national average for state-funded schools and means the county has improved on its ranking against all authorities. It now stands at 51st out of 151.

Positive

"Following the county's excellent GCSE and A-level results, it is very pleasing to see the summer capped off in such a positive way ahead of the new academic year."

"As a council we will continue to work very closely with schools to ensure pupils receive the best possible education."

A GROUP of 28 musical students from Years 7-11 at Burnt Mill Academy found themselves performing on the international stage after packing up their instruments and heading for Germany.

The concert band and choir from the First Avenue school stayed in Cologne and put on performances at an outdoor bandstand at Boppard and at the Köln Konzert Hall.

Music teacher Carla Rubery said: "As a school we have taken part in performing arts workshops abroad, but this is the first time we have prepared a performance with our concert band and choir to take to another country."

Buzzing

"All of the students loved it and were buzzing from the experience."

"They enjoyed the whole experience of going to another country and being able to perform in different venues."

"I am already looking into the next tour."

■ STUDENTS preparing to start their first year at Burnt Mill and Forest Hall School in Stansted were invited to join a week-long summer school, giving them the chance to make new friends and acclimatise to a new way of life.

ON SONG: The students in Germany

The group of 110 youngsters could take their pick from an extensive timetable of activities ranging from football and dance to circus skills and drama.

Illustrator Alan Case, who has worked on Danger Mouse, Count Duckula and Fantastic Mr Fox, took children through a step-by-step guide to creating cartoons, while Mark Russell from Solo Circus taught various circus skills and Sam Ashford from Livewire held drama sessions.

Mauri performers Bruce Simpson and Te Reinga wowed students with their lesson on the warrior culture before teaching them the famous Hakka dance.

Lee Bradbury, assistant head of humanities at Burnt Mill, said: "Summer school is about preparing the children for life at Burnt Mill and Forest Hall."

"Things like lining up before class are a huge part of the culture here and they have been getting in the habit during the week."

"The expectations we have put in place are what are to be expected when they come to Burnt Mill and Forest Hall."

Helena Mills, head of BMAT schools, said: "Summer school is such a brilliant way for our new Year 7 students to make friends,

SUMMER FUN: Drama sessions were among the holiday activities

Relax—we're not always dressed like this here...

PYJAMAS were the fashion of the day for staff and students at a Harlow nursery when it marked National Relaxation Day.

Youngsters at Kiddi Caru, in Kilm Lane, dressed up in their favourite pair of PJs, and snuggled up for stories in the nursery's sensory log cabin.

The log cabin is filled with different lighting and lava lamps to creating a relaxing environment for the children.

Staff member Layla Tweedie said all the children took part and everyone enjoyed the day.

Action stations at college to cope with demand for courses

HARLOW College is facing an unprecedented demand for places following the publication of GCSE results.

Extra staff were drafted in on results day to deal with the flood of enquiries from students wanting to gain a place on a college course or apprenticeship.

The college set up a triage system, enabling staff to assess and prioritise students' needs and place them on to their ideal study programme.

By the time all the applications had been processed the college was able to offer everyone a place on either an A-level, vocational or apprenticeship programme.

Head of admissions Paul Whitehead said: "As soon as results were available we have been fully focussed on supporting young people in our community."

"We have been dedicated to enabling young people to follow their aspirations with the wide range of courses here at the college. Being able to deal with the additional and unexpected demand is all part of the support we offer."

College principal Karen Spencer added: "We are also very excited to be offering new engineering qualifications this year, working with our local employers such as Stansted Airport and the Harlow Group on pre-apprenticeship programmes and we have been selected to run BBC Digital traineeships.

"We are also finding students looking for different options to university because of the increasing cost of tuition and maintenance costs. They are increasingly opting for apprenticeships or professional training courses.

"At the same time many adults are looking at re-skilling and we've seen an increase in people taking out 2+ loans to fund their study. Many of them are looking to enter the nursing, health and science professions."

As well as providing support for students from Harlow school, the college offered advice and guidance to those from schools outside the town including The Bishop's Stortford High School, Brentwood and Leventhorpe.

LinkFest's finale is a sun day treat for music fans

Organisers say final summer concert is the best of the year

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE sun finally came out for Harlow's LinkFest as music lovers flocked to the Town Park for an afternoon of free performances.

After rain washed out the previous two Sunday festivals in May and July, the organisers breathed a sigh of relief that the weather stayed dry for the third and final show.

And they were rewarded with the biggest turnout so far. Sunday's line-up included Archive, East of Java, LinkFest regulars Harlow Rockschool, Bizarre Fish, Guilty Pleasures and Sax on Fire.

Delighted chief organiser Jamie Pring said the event was the best of the year, adding: "It was finally a dry day which was a relief."

"Although it did rain for a 15-minute interval we had a brilliant turnout. It was what we had been waiting for all summer."

In previous years LinkFest has been held over a weekend but after organisers found stronger attendances on the second day the decision was taken to hold it on three Sundays throughout the summer.

"It was a fantastic atmosphere," said Jamie. "All the bands loved it and they were saying what a wonderful day it was."

"The bands are really happy to play

but this time it was more about hoping it would stay dry so people could come and enjoy themselves.

"The weather made it a lot easier for us this time."

Although reluctant to single out the performances of any of the acts for special praise, he added: "East of Java had not done it before, but they said they had a really good time and had a great reaction from the crowd."

"Sax on Fire always pull one out of the bag, but they all did really well and it's unfair to say there was one standout act."

With LinkFest due to celebrate its fifth anniversary next year, Jamie is planning a less is more approach with two instead of three shows.

Guitarist Steve Forward, who performed on Sunday, will play a solo show at Harlow's GPCA on Friday, November 20 to raise money for future LinkFest concerts.

Rugby club chairman's perfect Wedd-ing day

IT was the perfect match for Harlow Rugby Club's first woman chairman Tracey Lee when she married Mark Wedd.

The bride, who also manages the club's women's team, and groom tied the knot at St. Swithin's Church in Launcells, near Bude, Cornwall.

Tracey is the daughter of John and Linda Lee, of Helscott Road, Marhamchurch, Bude, and Mark is the son of Richard and Ann Wedd, of Townsville, Australia.

The service was conducted by Father David Barnes and the Rev Alison Hardy.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her four-year-old year old niece, Ruby Lee. The best men were Robert Spaight and Barry Whitefield.

The newly-weds, who live in Harlow, have delayed their honeymoon to Australia until next April.

Questions over M11 'dangers'

DRIVERS using the M11 near Harlow have been subjected to long delays on increasingly regular occasions over the past few months. As the motorway seemingly becomes more and more perilous, the Star put a series of questions to Highways England.

Q: Some of our readers have said that the M11 stretch between junctions 7 (Harlow) and 9 (Saffron Walden) has "tree root-like bumps traversing all lanes . . . at irregular intervals" and "large areas of the road surface Tarmac missing, normally where the central lane lines are painted". What does Highways England have to say on those comments and how does it perceive that particular stretch to be for motorists?

A: We haven't received any reports of issues on the M11 between junctions 7 and 9. We undertake weekly inspections on all roads we look after in the east region to ensure they are maintained to a safe standard. We will ask our contractor to look into the M11 and if necessary take appropriate action. As like many motorways, there are parts of the road which often have a concrete surface and can often be perceived as not being surfaced.

Q: Our readers have also said that these types of hazards have plagued the motorway for more than 12 months. How can people report hazards? How does Highways England respond to and monitor them?

A: If readers are concerned about potholes or hazards on the M11 they can report it to Highways England by contacting our Customer Contact Centre on 0300 123 5000. A report is then raised and an inspection is carried out and if necessary – and dependent on how severe any defect may be – our aim is to have the problem area addressed within 24 hours.

Q: In addition, our readers claim to have spotted a number of vehicles using the hard shoulder at high speed. Is Highways England aware of such an issue? What does it have to say on the matter?

A: Misuse of the hard shoulder is illegal, unsafe and drivers risk prosecution. This would be enforced by the police. However, our traffic officers who patrol this section of the M11 are not aware of any issues with hard shoulder abuse.

Q: What budget does Highways England have for motorway maintenance and how much is set aside for the M11?

A: At the end of last year Highways England announced its delivery plan which sets out

CHEMICAL SPILL: This crash last year closed both carriageways between Harlow and Bishop's Stortford our commitment for the next five years. In the east we have a programme of road improvement work which focuses on improving safety and increasing the capacity of roads to help ease congestion and ensure better journey experiences across the east region's busiest roads.

On the M11 we have already carried out some barrier renewal work between junctions 9 and 10, resurfaced the junction 7 northbound exit slip road and the southbound entry slip road. By the end of the financial year we have a package of work to resurface the M11 between junctions 6 and 8 southbound and northbound, which will improve the condition of the road surface for drivers using this vital route. We also plan to renew the variable message signs which display important journey planning information between junctions 6 and 8.

Q: Highways England admitted this time last year that congestion between junctions 7 and 8 was a "known problem". How is it working with the police, local authorities and MPs to address the matter?

COACH CRASH: One of the incidents which caused long delays

A: We are committed to getting the best use out of the road network, to making journeys more reliable and to improving safety.

We're aware of the congestion on the M11 and have previously investigated a lorry overtaking ban which restricted HGVs from overtaking on uphill sections of the M11 between junctions 8 and 9. The results showed it was beneficial to road users as it reduced congestion and improved journey times. We're now looking to implement this during the next financial year, subject to completion of statutory procedures.

In addition, as announced in the Roads Investment Strategy we plan to upgrade technology by installing detection loops, CCTV cameras and variable message signs at junctions on the M11 from Stansted Airport to Cambridge which will improve safety, relieve congestion and allow us to better inform drivers using the M11.

RANGERS CLUB

Tunnel beneath the Alps

MEASURING 35 miles in length and costing £6.5 billion to build, construction work on the world's longest railway tunnel has been completed.

It is called the Gotthard Base Tunnel and runs beneath the Alps mountain range in Switzerland.

When it opens to the public next year it will carry train passengers from the Swiss city of Zurich to the Italian city of Milan in a time of two hours and 50 minutes – almost an hour quicker than the current journey.

Trains will travel through the tunnel at speeds of more than 150mph.

Work on building the tunnel started 16 years ago and since then almost 2,000 people have worked day and night to dig out 31 million tons of earth from far beneath the mountains above.

The tunnel is so long that some workers used small folding bicycles to get from one part to another.

Pictured left is one of the four huge machines capable of cutting through almost 100 feet of solid rock every day were used on the project. They had to be kept cool with water to preventing them from overheating.

The tunnel is more than double the length of the previous holder of the record, the 14.5-mile long Seikan Tunnel in Japan.

Funeral firm invests in six new vehicles

A FUNERAL firm in Harlow has increased its fleet after taking delivery of six new vehicles.

Daniel Robinson & Sons, based in Wych Elm, has purchased two additional hearses and four limousines.

All six vehicles are purpose-built and fully air conditioned. They are among the widest funeral vehicles currently available.

"We aim to provide our clients the best comfort possible," said funeral manager Derek Oakley.

"We are delighted with the vehicles we have added to our fleet and they represent a massive investment for a small family business."

"We feel it enables us to continue to deliver the highest standards to the families that we serve."

Fun day cash for animal charities

Dog show is the highlight of fundraising event

A FUN day and dog show raised more than £2,000 for two animal welfare charities.

Mutts in Distress and BIGGSD, which rescues and rehomes German Shepherd dogs, will split the proceeds of Sunday's fundraiser. The money will go towards veterinary bills.

More than 100 people and their dogs joined in the activities which were held at the Mutts in Distress shelter in Little Hallingbury.

The highlight of the day was the dog show with about 10 different categories.

Pat Clark, who founded the shelter 30 years ago, also auctioned off various lots including dog beds and pet portrait sittings to raise as much money as possible.

Anyone wanting to contribute towards the costs of Mutts in Distress can do so by visiting www.youcaring.com/mutts-in-distress-412309.

In briefDriver, 47, accused of causing dancer's death

HARLOW: A 47-year-old man has appeared in court accused of causing the death of former Harlow College dance student Daniela Ruggiero in a car accident.

Ms Ruggiero and her friend Charlotte Dove were killed in the crash on the A10 in Hertfordshire in October 2013.

Luiz Rocker, 47, from Ware, has been charged with causing death by dangerous driving. He appeared at Stevenage Magistrates' Court but did not enter a plea.

He is due to appear at St Albans Crown Court on Monday.

Ram-raiders steal ATM

NEWHALL: Ram-raiders stole a cash machine after driving a vehicle through the shutters of a Harlow convenience store.

They used a red Mitsubishi Shogun to gain entry to The Food Store in The Chase at Newhall before removing the ATM.

The theft happened in the early hours of Friday.

Drug charge after stop

HARLOW: A London man has been charged with drugs offences after he was arrested during a routine stop check in Harlow.

Darren Gyan, 20, of Church Street, West Ham, is accused of possessing cannabis, possessing class A drugs with intent to supply and driving without insurance.

He has been bailed to appear at Chelmsford Magistrates Court on September 28.

Fitness duo to take team on 'nutty' run

Money raised will help to support dementia patients

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FITNESS instructors Gary and Kate Stanley are leading an army of fundraisers into a nutty challenge to support Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Mr and Mrs Stanley, owners of Harlow exercise group Stanley4Fitness, have signed up 60 volunteers to complete The Nuts Challenge assault course in Dorking on Saturday.

Participants will complete muddy obstacles and river crossings along the course which has length options ranging from 7-28km.

Their shared goal is to purchase My Life software packages which can help people suffering from dementia and other neurological conditions.

The software includes a huge range of photographs, video clips, radio shows and music dating back to the 1930s. It also includes pictures and newsreels of the local area from wartime to the present day.

The aim of the packages, which cost £5,000 each, is to spark recollections which can stimulate conversations between the patient and their nursing staff or family members.

TOUGH NUTS: Stanley4Fitness business owners Gary and Kate Stanley and Dan Dicker

With a few days left before the challenge begins, contestants still have time to join the group and donations can still be made online.

Mrs Stanley said: "My dad recently had a stroke and now has early onset Alzheimer's which affects him on a daily basis.

"I know it helps him enormously to talk about the past and things that are familiar to him."

"I saw the article in the Harlow Star about the Princess Alexandra Hospital's charity fundraising to purchase this equipment and it really resonated with me."

"We hope lots of people will support us, by joining the team or sponsoring us, to purchase one of these dementia software packages."

To join the Stanley4Fitness team email fundraising@pah.nhs.uk and to make a donation visit www.justgiving.com/Stanley4FitnessNutsChallenge.

Drug dealer caught with £2m haul in back of van

A DRUG dealer who was stopped by police driving a van containing more than £2m worth of amphetamines hidden among boxes of clothes has been jailed for six years.

Simon Brown was pulled over by officers from Central Motorway Police Group who were carrying out a routine stop on the M6 near Stafford on April 23.

Officers searching the white Peugeot van found nine boxes concealed among clothing stock. Each contained 10-12 packages of a suspicious substance.

Brown, 50, of Bower Hill, Epping, was arrested and charged with possession with intent to supply Class B drugs.

Tests confirmed the substance was amphetamine, with a "wet weight" of 200kg and an estimated street value of £2m.

Further searches of Brown's home uncovered a further 817 grams of amphetamine in his garage, with an estimated street value of £8,170, and 18.5kg of cannabis with a street value of approximately £92,500.

On Friday Brown was jailed at Stafford Crown Court after pleading guilty. He received four years imprisonment for possession with intent to supply amphetamine and 12 months for the further amount found at his home, the sentences to run concurrently.

Prepare for a nostalgia party extravaganza as the nation's favourite rock 'n' roll variety spectacular celebrates 30 years with another line-up of hits from the 1950s, '60s and '70s as well as a smattering of hilarious comedy.

PUNK ROCK

Victoria Hall Theatre, Bury Road, Old Harlow

Wednesday, September 16 - Saturday, September 19 (8pm)
£10 (£7.50 concessions)

Harlow Theatre Company presents Punk Rock, an edgy play written by Simon Stephens. Set in the library of a fee-paying grammar school, it tells the story of seven sixth-formers who are revising for their mock A-levels. As they face the end of their school lives, a gathering tension builds during which insecurities, rivalries, desires and envy escalate.

Humdrum hilarity

TAKE two real life married couples, add four characters who are desperate to get their fingertips on the next rung of the social ladder and mix them with Willy Russell's sharp, incisive and hilarious script – the result is Thompson Promotions' latest show, One For The Road.

The hilarious comedy is about as close to farce that Willy Russell, of Educating Rita and Shirley Valentine fame, has come.

Set in the 1980s in the living room of the Cain residence, the story follows Pauline, who spends a lot of her time doing her best to keep up with her smug neighbours Jane and Roger Fuller, and her poor husband Dennis, who is trying to come to terms with how his once exciting life has panned out.

"As Dennis' midlife crisis looms on the eve of his 40th birthday, what has the making of a melancholy storyline is injected with plenty of funny moments as Jane and Roger are more than preoccupied trying to find out the identity of a garden vandal, and their dynamic as the 'perfect' couple becomes unravelled," explains Jim Thompson, who plays Dennis Cain, a prankster, mimic and occasional poet, who uses wisecracks as a weapon in an effort to evade the death.

"Throughout the play, there is some underlying social commentary about stale marriages, hypocrisy and the acquisitive society. No genuine comedy could exist without some truth and in One For The Road, Willy Russell does not fail to provide this, but in the main aim is, as always, the laughter."

The production runs from Thursday, September 24 to Saturday, September 26 at The Victoria Hall Theatre in Old Harlow.

Wendy Parsley takes on the role of Dennis's less than emphatic wife Pauline, while Jim's real wife of five months, Jane Thompson, plays the role of the snobbish neighbour Jane, hell bent on interfering in everyone else's life and diagnosing Dennis's problem as sexual at root.

Her husband Roger, played by Wendy's real life husband Richard, thinks Dennis' problems revolve around "hump-wish".

Jim adds: "Putting a vivid light on dull suburbia, Willy Russell manages to be hilarious and unusually sympathetic at the same time in a play that promises the perfect antidote to beat the impending autumn blues."

The production is sponsored by local firm Harlow Fencing and tickets can be bought online at www.tpromotions.ticketsource.co.uk or by calling 0333 666 3366.

'Ello, 'ello, 'ello - what's all this funny business going on?

COP turned comedian Alfie Moore will be telling hilarious tales from his 18 years on the beat when his stand-up tour comes to Harlow's Playhouse.

Since putting down the badge and taking up the mic, Moore has had overwhelming run of success and even been star of his own BBC Radio 4 series A Fair Cop.

The new play The Naked Stun will feature classic anecdotes such as his attempts to track down a serial flasher – with his life on the front line providing comedy gold.

With credits such as Comic Relief and the Wright Stuff to his name, Moore has appeared in several of his own shows including: An Idiots Guide to Crime and Punishment, Bizarre Crime and Confessions of a Police Officer.

Described by David Mitchell as "genuinely hilarious" Moore will perform at Harlow's Playhouse Studio on Saturday, October 3.

WHAT'S ON

A night at the opera

THE splendour of mid-19th century Parisian life comes to Harlow, as part of The Russian State Ballet and Opera House's kick starts its nationwide tour of Giuseppe Verdi's tragic opera, La Traviata.

The opera follows the story of Violetta, a high-class courtesan, who sacrifices everything for the man she loves.

Violetta's life is full of endless parties until she meets young nobleman, Alfredo Germont, who convinces her to live in the country with him.

All is blissful contentment until Alfredo's father arrives and tells Violetta that the affair is threatening the family's honour. Desperate to save Alfredo from disgrace, Violetta leaves for Paris and runs into the arms of another.

Heartbreak is inevitable as Violetta battles the disease that often afflicted morally questionable 19th-century women: consumption.

Since it's debut in 1853, La Traviata remains one of Verdi's most popular operas, combining drama, emotion and memorable melodies.

The show is in three acts and set to an Italian libretto by Francesco Maria Piave. It will feature a live orchestra with over 30 musicians.

La Traviata, literally meaning The Fallen Woman or The Woman Who Strayed, will be performed in its original language, but with English subtitles to make it easier for the audience to follow.

Producer of Amande Concerts Ltd, Alexej Ignatow, said: "Opera is sometimes seen as being out of reach, but these performances will bring world class opera talent to audiences in an accessible way."

Amande Concerts, which is bringing The Russian State Opera to the UK, is a company that specialises in promoting Russian culture.

The company works exclusively with established theatres in the Russian Federation.

Since 2001, several ballets and operas have been performed across the UK including Swan Lake, The Nutcracker, Sleeping Beauty, Carmen and La Bohème.

Mr Ignatow said: "For many people, seeing an opera is a profound experience and one they are keen to repeat."

"I hope that these local performances will encourage many more people to try opera and discover the magic it creates."

The Russian State Ballet and Opera House will be performing La Traviata on Thursday, September 10 at The Playhouse in Harlow. Tickets are available at the box office by calling (01279) 431945 and online by visiting www.playhouseharlow.com.

X Factor's Joe McElderry brings new songs to Rhodes

X FACTOR winner Joe McElderry is heading to Bishop's Stortford with a brand new show after the sell-out success of last year's nationwide tour.

The Evolution Tour, which is coming Rhodes on Friday, October 2, showcases Joe's vocal versatility which has won him a unique fan base.

After starring in the rock opera Tommy in September, Joe will be performing new numbers and routines in the show at the South Road venue.

His unmistakable voice, easy wit and warm rapport won him fans while on the sixth series of the X Factor and endeared him to all ages from 5 to 95.

His first single, The Climb, reached number one in the UK singles chart. Since he shot to stardom in the televised talent show in 2009 he has released four top 20 albums - two of which reached the UK's top three.

Whether he's singing a pop hit, or singing opera to a quiet audience, 24-year-old Joe from Tyneside has gone from boy crooner to selling two million records worldwide since his X Factor success.

The Stortford show will start at 7.30pm and tickets cost £19.50.

There are also VIP packages available which include a personal meet and greet and photo with Joe and a glass of bubbly for £75.

To book tickets call the box office on (01279) 710 200 or go online at www.rhodesbishopsstortford.org.uk.

Hot Misadventures

UNDER THREAT: Pierce Brosnan and Owen Wilson in No Escape

A moving portrait of teenage dreams in bittersweet crisis

Me And Earl And The Dying Girl

DRAMA: (12A) 105 minutes
Director: Alfonso Gomez-Rejon
Starring: Thomas Mann, RJ Cyler, Olivia Cooke, Connie Britton, Nick Offerman

THE good die young and that seems to be the inevitable outcome of Alfonso Gomez-Rejon's beguiling and intensely moving screen adaptation of Jesse Andrews' debut novel.

A teenage girl is diagnosed with cancer, classmates offer their heartfelt sympathy and one childhood friend sacrifices his studies to support her through chemotherapy.

There are obvious similarities to The Fault In Our Stars, but while that film had audiences sniffling from the opening frame, Me And Earl And The Dying Girl mines a rich vein of offbeat humour to stem the deluge of salty tears.

"This isn't a touching romantic story," confides Greg Gaines (Thomas Mann), the socially awkward high school student and narrator of Gomez-Rejon's remarkable film.

To some extent he's right: there's no boy meets girl cuteness here, no stolen kisses or wish fulfilment about the healing power of nascent love.

But his story is deeply affecting, recounted as a scrapbook of bittersweet vignettes and stop-motion animation, accompanied with self-explanatory onscreen captions like "Day 1 Of Doomed Friendship".

At the behest of his parents (Connie Britton, Nick Offerman), Greg visits estranged childhood friend Rachel Kushner (Olivia Cooke), who has been diagnosed with leukaemia.

"I don't need your stupid pity so please go," she tells him coldly, but Greg persists to placate his maddlesome folks.

A faltering friendship takes root, to the delight of Rachel's boozy mother (Molly Shannon).

DYING DAYS: Alfonso Gomez-Rejon and Thomas Mann in Me and Earl and the Dying Girl

In order to impress his high school crush, Madison (Katherine C Hughes), Greg agrees to make a film for Rachel with his partner in creative crime, Earl (RJ Cyler).

They have been producing charming homages for years including A Sockwork Orange, Senior Citizen Kane and Anatomy Of A Burger.

The pressure to deliver a masterpiece weighs heavily on Greg, creating friction with Rachel, who doesn't want to be surrounded by negativity.

Me And Earl And The Dying Girl is a beautifully judged rites of passage drama, that eschews mawkishness and emotional manipulation in favour of a richly detailed portrait of adolescent dreams in crisis.

Gomez-Rejon's whimsical visual flourishes are a constant delight, perfectly reflecting Greg's love of classic cinema and his penchant for homemade props.

No Escape

ACTION: (15) 103 minutes
Director: John Erick Dowdle
Starring: Owen Wilson, Lake Bell, Pierce Brosnan, Sterling Jerins, Claire Gare

East meets west and, as usual, America emerges as the culturally and morally superior force in John Erick Dowdle's taut thriller set in south-east Asia.

No Escape was shot on location in Thailand, but director Dowdle and his younger brother Drew, who co-wrote the script, remain vague about the geography of this violent, protracted chase set during a bloodthirsty coup.

A climactic sequence set on a river, which supposedly meanders across the Vietnamese border, would logically infer Laos or Cambodia as the backdrop to the wanton carnage.

Neither nation would want to be connected to the rampant xenophobia on display here, so the Dowdles dodge specifics, including the political motivations of their stereotypical characters, and focus instead on propulsive action sequences.

The opening 30 minutes are particularly nerve-racking, cranking up the suspense as a beleaguered American family plays a deadly game of cat and mouse with a machete-wielding mob in a besieged hotel.

All of that sweat-drenched tension evaporates when flimsy threads of realism are slashed in hysterical fashion to engineer a series of hilariously improbable events that defy logic and the laws of physics.

Texan businessman Jack Dwyer (Owen Wilson) uproots his wife Annie (Lake Bell) and daughters Lucy (Sterling Jerins) and Beeze (Claire Gare) to take up a job in far-flung climes.

The welcome from some locals is lukewarm, so while Annie and the girls settle into the hotel suite, Jack seeks solace in the bar and attempts to justify his company's presence to fellow traveller Hammond (Pierce Brosnan) and other patrons.

The assassination of the country's president sparks an uprising and Jack witnesses firsthand the brutality of the mob.

He sprints back to the hotel and rounds up Annie and the children just as locals begin beheading foreigners in the street and storming the reception.

Staff stand by as international guests are slaughtered in their rooms.

"All we got to do is put 10 steps between us and them," Jack tells his terrified family, shepherding them at speed through the mounting devastation, bound for the US embassy.

The odds are stacked against the Dwyers and no one, it seems, can be trusted.

No Escape is punctuated by moments of jaw-dropping incredulity, including Brosnan's broad cock-er-nee accent.

Wilson and Bell are an appealing on-screen couple and they wring droplets of sympathy for their stricken characters, especially when little Beeze shows scant concern for everyone's safety by constantly complaining that she is hungry, wants her teddy or needs the toilet when silence would be golden.

Dowdle orchestrates the fast-paced set pieces with a modicum of flair, stampeding any half-hearted attempts at cultural sensitivity under the feet of his nameless revolutionaries, who intend to repel western capitalism with barbarism and brute force.

Autumn is Chutney time

It's the time of year when we should be making the most of nature's harvest, says catering lecturer Kevin Selwood. Here he shows how you can make chutney using seasonal produce . . .

What a wonderful year it has been for fruit and vegetables, both cultivated and wild, you can't walk past hedgerows or bushes on the sides of pavements and fail to notice the plump, glistening blackberries.

In previous years I have left it too late to go foraging for blackberries, but not this year. I was out in mid August with my wife collecting blackberries galore.

At the start of the year, I moved house and for the first time I now have a proper greenhouse and a little vegetable patch with an apple tree. Subsequently, I have a glut of beetroot, tomatoes and apples.

When I was gathering the blackberries, a young woman and her daughter passed by and asked what we were doing. When I told her she asked if you could make jam from them. Obviously this is easy to do and I gave her the basic recipe. Now, I love blackberry jam but also love the classic combination of blackberry and cooking apples for pie or crumble so have frozen some for later.

With the rest of my vegetables I decided to be creative and make some chutney and given the time scale until Christmas these will make nice little gifts, so I made beetroot, tomato, apple and blackberry chutney.

Chutneys, along with pickles and jams, are a traditional way of preserving ingredients and given the ease of availability of ingredients it is possible to be very creative.

Chutneys use two of the classic preserving items, vinegar and sugar. Traditionally malt vinegar was used but nowadays you have access to a wide range of vinegars, all of which can provide extra flavours as well as preserving. I used some red wine vinegar, cider vinegar and some aged balsamic in my chutney.

You can buy preserving jars from any supermarket, but saved jam jars do just as well as long as you follow some simple guidelines. All jars used must be sterilised before use to aid in the storage process. All chutneys benefit from at least two-three months storage once made in a dark cool area – although you can eat them straight away if you want to.

If you want to keep them longer, then a further sterilisation process is required once in the jars but to be honest I usually find I don't have much left once I have given some away and eaten the rest (once opened keep in the refrigerator).

To sterilise the jars before use, you can put the jars into a large saucepan, cover with water and bring to the boil and simmer for 10 minutes (keeping them as separate as possible) or place onto a clean baking tray lined with clean cloth in an oven at 160°C for five minutes. Be careful when you remove them – tongs are good – and avoid putting your fingers inside the jars. Let them cool before you fill them with your preserve. Note that all sealing rings and lids should also be placed into boiling water and drained.

Approximate basic chutney ratios

- 2 kg of main fruit/vegetable items.
- 500-750ml vinegar.
- 500-750g sugar

Obviously a lot depends on what you are using as a base but by experimenting, tasting and adjusting you can get the balance and taste right.

Other ingredients are added for flavour, usually onions, garlic, ginger and spices such as ginger, star anise and cinnamon. If you want to be rigid stick to a recipe you can easily find one in books or on the Internet.

When cooking your chutney it is best to use stainless steel pans as they don't react with the acid in the vinegar.

Kevin's chutney recipe

Ingredients

600g raw beetroot, boiled, peeled, chopped then pulsed in food processor

600g tomatoes, skinned and chopped

600g apples, peeled, cored and chopped

200g blackberries

2 onions finely diced

3 cloves garlic crushed

2 lemons zested

Small piece ginger chopped

3 green chillies chopped

300ml red wine vinegar

250ml cider vinegar

75 ml balsamic vinegar

2 star anise

2 teaspoons ground cinnamon

500g soft brown sugar

50 ml olive oil

Method

Gently heat the oil in a large pan, add the onions and cook gently for five minutes

Add the garlic, ginger and chillies, cook for a further two minutes, then add the beetroot, apples and tomatoes and stir well.

Heat for three minutes then add the vinegar and sugar, lemon zest and spices, and bring to the boil stirring well.

Once the mixture is bubbling, turn down to simmer, stirring occasionally

Scrape the bottom to avoid sticking

It takes up to 1½-2 hours to reduce down. It should be fairly thick. Taste during cooking to see if you need any adjusting of flavours.

Once happy allow to cool a little then transfer carefully into the prepared jars.

Cover with a disc of silicon or baking paper and once cold seal with lid and store in a cupboard until needed.

PROPERTY TALK

>with NIGEL LEWIS

Live like Lorna Doone

ONE of the great romantic tales in British literature, Lorna Doone culminates in the shooting at the altar of the eponymous heroine as she marries John Rydd.

Her rejected suitor and attacker Carver Doone flees from the church pursued by Rydd who, following a bloody fight, drowns him in a bog. However, Lorna recovers from her gunshot wounds and in true Victorian story-telling style, lives happily ever after with Rydd.

The 1869 novel by Richard Doddridge Blackmore was based in large part on the true story of two warring families, the Rydds and the Doones, who lived in a valley in the 16th and 17th centuries in Devon and Somerset, particularly around the East Lyn Valley area of Exmoor.

It's inspired at least ten films and mini-series, and was last played by Amelia Warner in the 2001 adaptation, the actress married to 50 Shades of Grey's Jamie Dornan.

Perched on top of its own private drive, Oare Manor Cottage near Lynton in Devon provides the perfect spot where you could contemplate the setting of Lorna Doone's denouement, and is on the market for £750,000.

According to agent Jackson Stops, it's been greatly improved by the current owners, and has a living room with an inglenook style fireplace, dining room with good views, and ground floor guest room with shower. There's also a conservatory and two sloping paddocks in grounds of more than seven acres.

Snare a drummer's old house

ROCK legend John Bonham's headmaster famously wrote in his last school report that, "he will either end up a dustman or a millionaire."

Although he started life as an apprentice carpenter, Bonham didn't end up working for the local council as his teachers no doubt expected, but joined rock group Led Zeppelin and was named by Rolling Stone magazine as the best drummer of all time – and made his fortune in the process.

Respected for his speed, power and distinctive sound, Bonham was scouted by lead singer Robert Plant and played in the band until his death, aged 32, in 1980. An inquest showed that he'd drunk about 40 shots of vodka in 24 hours. The remaining band members disbanded rather than replace him, although Led Zeppelin reunited for a sell-out concert at the O2 in 2007, with Jason Bonham taking his late father's place on drums.

John Bonham started playing drums, aged five, when his family lived here in Redditch, Worcestershire, and the house is now up for sale at £375,000.

According to estate agent A P Morgan, it's a well-presented and vastly extended five-bedroom detached property with a spacious kitchen/diner:

It's also got a games room and wet room. However, the actual shed – now a garage – next to the house, where the young percussionist started honing his skills, is a protected English Heritage site, and not part of the sale.

Home to wartime boffins

THE deception and jamming operations tested at Gin Head helped mislead the German High Command into thinking that British naval and airborne forces would arrive in France via the Pas De Calais, rather than in Normandy during the D-day landings.

Perched on sheer cliffs high above the sea, it was also part of the country's early warning system that alerted the RAF to incoming enemy aircraft – such a well-guarded secret that the Luftwaffe failed to recognise its significance.

The facility went on to test radar equipment during the Cold War and was then bought by engineering firm Ferranti in 1948, but has been derelict since 1994.

With one of Britain's most jaw-dropping coastal vistas, Gin Head – two large, square research buildings on a 26,000sq ft site - overlooks the Firth of Forth, 30 miles from Edinburgh.

A trio of investors who bought the 5½ acre site ten years ago got planning permission to build a huge mansion on the site, which is now for sale for £3.5m.

connected by covered walkways. Huge sheets of glass throughout will allow the new owners to look out on internal courtyards and agent Domus Nova says the design could incorporate a cinema, studio, or gallery.

Could the Tower of Lethendy be the perfect place for Taylor Swift?

Taylor Swift might sing about break-up and heartache, but her property investments must make her very happy indeed.

The pop queen's enviable portfolio includes a $3.5m, three-bedroom Beverly Hills home and a seven-bedroom Rhode Island house, as well as an apartment in Nashville and a trendy $19.9m New York penthouse.

Although she's since sold it, three years ago Swift bought a house next door to then-boyfriend, Conor Kennedy in Cape Cod, Massachusetts. And it appears that she's now keen to live closer to the family of current beau, record producer and DJ Calvin Harris.

The pair started dating in March and have been ranked by Forbes as the highest-paid celebrity couple over the past year, with combined earnings of more than $146m.

Swift's reportedly shown interest in the Tower of Lethendy in Meikleour, Perthshire, a 16th-century estate just an hour's drive from Edinburgh where Dumfries-born Harris's family live.

On the market for £4.6m, with its fairytale turrets, the eight-bedroom property is reminiscent of the Disney-style castle that featured in the video for her hit single Love Story.

The reception area includes several sitting rooms, drawing rooms and a lavish kitchen – perfect for Taylor, who loves to post photos of her celebrity baking parties on Instagram.

It's a Scottish country paradise, with salmon fishing on the River Tay, deer stalking, and grouse, pheasant and partridge shooting nearby.

Recently rented out as an exclusive retreat for upmarket house-parties, it also boasts two lodge houses and two cottages – offering 13 extra bedrooms – a library with floor-to-ceiling oak shelves, tennis courts, and its own private golf course.

Driver and Vehicle
Licensing Agency

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motororing

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website.

Payment per vehicle negotiable.

CricketOpeners' club record stand four-midable

A MAGNIFICENT 250-plus stand lit up Harlow Cricket Club's fourth team match.

Jack Sykes (123) and skipper Rob Coldwell (118) scored centuries in the draw with Buckhurst Hill on Saturday, believed to be a club record for an opening partnership for the fourths. It was Sykes' maiden century.

Harlow lost the toss and batted first and, scoring at seven runs an over throughout, Coldwell hit his second ton in successive matches, which included 14 fours and four sixes, facing only 78 balls in total.

Sykes' superb knock included 15 fours and three sixes.

He faced 120 deliveries in total as Harlow declared on 267-2 soon after Sykes was out. The score was made in 36 overs, in just over two hours.

However, Buckhurst Hill held on for 58 overs to seal a draw.

Harlow host Harold Wood in a title decider on Saturday.

The second team won their match at Leigh-on-Sea.

U13 spinner Reece Galvin was playing his second successive two match, while 'U50' Philip Riddell played his first league match of the season.

Mitch Howard starred for Harlow with his first five-wicket haul of the campaign, that nearly saw him take a hat-trick.

Amir Farooq took two wickets with his first two balls.

Simon Wallace (52) was the mainstay of Leigh's 175 all out, with ten overs unused.

In reply, Dan Stopp (45) and Dipendra Basnet helped Harlow reach the target in just 34.5 overs.

A win against West Essex on Saturday would give Harlow a top-four finish.

The third team lost their final home match of the season to a strong Buckhurst Hill side.

Hill amassed 242 all out. Luke Close (43) and Faisal Javed (55) helped Harlow get close to the target, but the side ran out of batsmen on 229.

BasketballCoach happy as duo return

ESSEX Leopards coach Steve Ogunjimi is delighted that MVP Will Ashby and captain Albert Margai are returning to the club.

Ashby played briefly with the Big Cats as a junior but returned to the club from Newham Neptunes at the start of last season.

"I'm delighted to bring Will back," said Leopards' coach Steve Ogunjimi.

"He's really improved since I practiced with him at Newham, and I'm sure he'll be a key player for us."

The Big Cats expect to make more announcements over the next week in terms of new signings.

Essex County Cricket Club

Head coach Grayson decides to step down

Silverwood assumes control until end of the season

ESSEX County Cricket Club has announced that head coach Paul Grayson has left by mutual consent.

Chris Silverwood, assistant head coach, will take temporary charge until the end of the season.

Grayson said: "I have had 19 wonderful years at Essex CCC, both as a player and as a coach, but I now feel the time is right for a new challenge."

Yorkshireman Grayson, the brother of Preston North End FC manager Simon Grayson, joined the county in 1996, and he played 138 first class matches.

He was awarded his county cap in 1996.

During the winter of 2001-02, Grayson was appointed vice-captain of Essex.

With Ronnie Irani away on international duty, Grayson took charge when Essex won the 2002 County Championship Division Two title and gained promotion into the top flight.

Restricted

He enjoyed a benefit year in 2005, but injuries restricted his appearances, and he retired at the end of the year.

He spent a year coaching the second XI, before he became head coach in 2007.

He led the team to the Friends Provident Trophy win in 2008, with a five-wicket victory over Kent at Lord's.

He was also at the helm as Essex secured promotion to Division One of the LV= County Championship in 2009 with a final day victory over Derbyshire.

Grayson said: "I would like to thank the cricket committee for their trust and support over the years, in particular John Faragher, Graham Gooch, David Afclie, Keith Fletcher and Nigel Hilliard.

"Thank you also to the loyal supporters who understand the vision of the club and the development of Essex's own players.

"I have always been a strong supporter of the club's policy of developing our own players into first class cricketers and it is a pleasure to see so many doing well in the game.

Hard work

"I would like to thank the players for their hard work and dedication, particularly the three captains I have worked with; Mark Pettini, James Foster and Ryan ten Doeschate."

Graham Saville, former chairman of the Essex CCC cricket committee, said: "I'd like to thank Paul Grayson for his loyal service to the club as both a player and as a coach."

"He has done everything we had asked him to do with our youth policy."

"Since taking over in 2007, Paul has helped to develop some outstanding young cricketers, who we hope will go on to represent Essex for a long time in the future.

"We wish him all the best for the future."

On Thursday, the Eagles lost by 20 runs at home to Yorkshire Vikings in the Royal London One-Day Cup quarter-final.

SHUT THAT DOOR: Paul Grayson has stepped down from his role as Essex head coach

"A special thank you to Graham Saville, who brought me to Essex and has showed loyal support to me, for which I will always be grateful.

"Thank you also to the loyal supporters who understand the vision of the club and the development of Essex's own players.

England debutant Topley is heading off to Hampshire

PASTURES NEW: Reece Topley on England duty

"I am extremely sad to be leaving Essex having played for the county since the age of nine and have thoroughly enjoyed my time in a great dressing room.

"I would like to publicly thank all the players for their huge support and firm friendships."

"In particular, I must also thank the two first XI coaches, Paul Grayson for the fantastic opportunity he has given me and to Chris Silverwood, who I have a great admiration for and enjoyed working with."

"I am delighted to be joining

Hampshire, a club I have admired from a distance for some time. I know I am not the finished article and hope that at 21 years old, Hampshire can help me develop into a regular international bowler in the coming years.

"I feel the environment at the Ageas Bowl will assist me in being the best I possibly can be and I am tremendously excited for the future at Hampshire."

Topley made his first-class debut in 2011, against Cambridge MCCU, at the age of 17. He went on to take 14 wickets in his first three County Championship matches. His bowling in the 2013 domestic Twenty20 competition, where he took 21 wickets at an average of 13.23, earned him a call-up to the England Lions squad for the winter tours to Australia and Sri Lanka.

Topley is the latest of a clutch of young, talented players developed by the county to move on. The trend began with Varun Chopra leaving to join Warwickshire in 2009, where he has gone on to become captain.

In 2013 Adam Wheater left Essex to become first-choice wicketkeeper at Hampshire and at the end of last season another wicketkeeper, Ben Foakes, moved to Surrey while fast bowler Tymal Mills headed to Sussex.

Meanwhile, the future of Essex's head coach Grayson remains in doubt after the club was forced to deny he had resigned from his post after the defeat by Yorkshire on Thursday.

It was then revealed he was not present for the first day of Essex's county championship match at home to Northamptonshire, which started yesterday (Tuesday), with the team led by coaches Barry Hyam and Silverwood.

Penguins finish season on high

HARLOW Penguins finished their season on high with the 17 and over men's 4x100m freestyle relay team competing in the ASA Summer Swimming Championships at Sheffield's Ponds Forge.

With Karl Batorski returning to Sheffield on the back of his exploits the previous week in the British Championship, Hayden Thomas, Mason Arnold and Lee Baker were competing at the highest level for the first time.

Having qualified in a time of 3min 41.80sec, the team were seeded 16th and their aim was to make the final, but they knew they had to be at their best.

Batorski's leading leg time of 52.87 put the club in a great position and this was maintained with excellent split times from Thomas (55.63), Arnold (55.24) and Baker (54.39) on the anchor leg.

Their overall time was 3:38.13, a massive 3.67sec improvement on their qualifying time.

That meant the club qualified for the final by the smallest of margins – a mere eight-one hundredths of a second.

In the final, the team's time was 3:38.90 – with the split times Batorski 53.14, Thomas 56.08, Arnold 55.25, Baker 54.43 – and they were placed tenth.

Penguins coach Martin Stringer said: "This was a massive achievement for the team and was a great experience.

"The boys have a taste of competing at the highest level and want more of it. For the club there has been fantastic support and more swimmers will want to be there next year."

Brilliant best time for town runner Smith

ALEX SMITH cruised to a new personal best (PB) 5km time at the Harlow parkrun.

The Harlow Running Club member finished in second place out of 105 finishers in an excellent 20min 25sec.

He was followed home by Terry Ridge (11th in 23:33), Paul Dixon (12th in 23:38), Daniel Chapman (19th in 25:16), Debbie Barry (26th and first female vet 50 in 26:08), Jane Evans (27th and second female Vet 50 in 26.21), Alan Wellbelove (51st in 29.20), Pushpa Mistry (67th in 31.11), Debbie Cooper (68th in 31.20) and Austin Nyamande (78th in 33.49).

Meanwhile, at the Mel Batty 10K at Thurrock, Adrian Fell was 32nd out of 144 finishers in 39:35.

He was followed by Alex Smith (35th in 39:56), his second PB of the weekend, and Sharon Wright (64th in 44:47).

Andy Kinney had a very busy weekend, completing one and a half marathons.

On Sunday he finished the Severn Bridge Half Marathon in 1870th place out of 2255 finishers in 2hr 21min 18sec.

The race started in Wales, crossed the bridge into England and runners returned to Wales for the finish.

Then on Monday he finished the off road Cakeathon Marathon in East Kent in 46th out of 113 finishers in 5:43:51.

The previous week he completed two marathons in two days.

He finished the Bad Cow Marathon at Poole in Dorset in 72nd place out of 86 finishers in 5:46:24. The next day he finished a second marathon at the same venue in 86th out of 92 finishers in 6:02:03.

At the Gunpowder parkrun 5K at Waltham Abbey, Daniel Jephcott came home third out of 115 finishers in a fantastic 19:15.

Martyn Coulter was 22nd in a PB of 23:34.

Jason Haigh raced at the Thetford parkrun 5K, where he was ninth out of 156 finishers in a superb 20:19. Celia Haigh was 95th in 32:03.

Other results: Hatfield Forest parkrun: Justin Patten 18th (out of 128) 22:11. Cambridge parkrun: Richard Smith (182nd out of 487) 24:43. Reading parkrun: Andy Kinney 28:02 (115th out of 196). Maldon parkrun 5K: Vicki Calver (212th out of 250) in 36:19. Mersea Island ten mile: Debbie Barry (104th out of 179) in 1:29:33. Mersea Island five mile: Paula Reynolds (18th out of 105 and third female) in 36:18.

Leopards back

THE Levett Essex Leopards open their 2015/16 basketball season on Friday when Team USA Select are the visitors.

The NBL champions, who split their matches between Harlow and Brentwood, will be coached by Steve Ogunjimi for the first time.

This match tips off at Brentwood at 8pm.

Following the announcement that captain Albert Margai and club MVP Will Ashby have resigned for the club, the Big Cats have also confirmed that Courtney van Beest, Ladi Brown and Tosin Oyelesie have re-joined the Division One champions.

Van Beest is now the club's longest serving player.

Ogunjimi said: "Courtney brings us energy and some great defence, bringing him back is a massive plus for us."

The first Harlow pre-season friendly is on Saturday September 12 against Brunel.

Shaun of the dread as Town avoid the drop

Alderson's spin puts side in pole position before rain

by Alan Scott

Shepherd Neame Essex League, Division Two

Stanford-le-Hope	144
Harlow Town	34-0

Match abandoned

SHAUN ALDERSON was the spin king as Harlow Town secured the result which ensured they kept their Division Two status for next season.

Just over 30 points separated second-from-bottom Stanford-le-Hope before the match, so Town knew a positive result was crucial.

Neil Gladwin's men would have been confident of chasing the hosts' paltry total of 144, but the rain did for Town as the visitors were still on 34-0 when the game was finally abandoned.

Gladwin drew plenty of positives from Alderson's bowling performance on Saturday.

Gladwin said: "Shaun Alderson set us up with a fantastic spell of spin bowling. He bowled virtually the whole innings.

"Eighteen overs, six for 50, was testament to how well he bowled. I have no doubt we would have chased the small total down, but we are not really bothered how we picked up the required points.

Tough

"It's been a tough season for a number of reasons, but we can go into the last game of the season without any pressure and just go out and enjoy the game."

Town host Fives & Heronians in that final game, with the visitors needing a win to secure the Division Two title.

Against Stanford, Gladwin won the toss and inserted the home team, aiming to bowl Stanford out cheaply and then chase down whatever had been posted.

Opening with spinner Shaun Alderson, Town could not have wished for a better start.

With just the second ball of the innings, Alderson trapped opening batsman, Michael Gray, straight in front for a big, fat zero.

The second wicket soon folloured, Dan Baldwin swooped to collect a ball in the deep and with a bullet throw, Gladwin, deputising for Pat Yates, who was running late, behind the stumps, collected the throw to run out Martin Leslie with just four runs on the board.

The third wicket fell on 20 when Owais Qasim found the edge of Thomas Willats bat and Yates, hastily on to the pitch after his delay, held on to a difficult chance standing up to the wicket.

The second wicket soon fol-

Sachin Sewgobind and Shehan Perera got the Stanford innings back on track. But Shaun Alderson claimed both wickets to leave Stanford in deep trouble at 129-5.

Dan Farmer and Shaun Alderson then turned the screw and ran through the rest of the batting order, cleaning out Stanford for 144.

After a lengthy rain delay, the clouds eventually subsided and allowed openers Shiraz Ali and Ashley Alderson to start the Harlow Town innings.

Alderson showed his intent with the second ball being dispatched over deep extra cover for six.

Town scored runs regularly and after eight overs had moved on to 34-0.

This was the last of the action as the heavens opened and play was abandoned at 6.10pm.

The points collected, along with Ardleigh Green losing to Fives, meant Town get a second season in Division Two.

Elsewhere, Town's second team lost by 57 runs against Stanford-le-Hope.

Simon Rowell produced magnificent bowling figures of 8-65 to restrict Stanford to 182, but it was all nine in Town could only muster 125-9.

The thirds lost by four wickets against Hadleigh & Thundersley, despite a 58 from Dan Gleeson.

The fourths lost by eight wickets against Hornchurch fifths.

FAB WEEK ENDS

TALK OF 'CRISIS'

Simms and on-fire Dadson give Chapman's men a lift

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Ryman North

Harlow Town	4
Redbridge	0

CRISIS? What crisis.

It was all doom and gloom after Harlow Town secured just one win in their first five games.

But on the back of three straight wins, and nine goals in their last two matches, suddenly the Hawks are two points off top spot and brimming with confidence.

"A week is a long time in football," joked Hawks assistant manager Spencer Knight. "We are still doing the same things. It surprised us that the boys had shown a lack of confidence."

"We know we are a good side. Sometimes things just seem to click. We were not great at Barkingside [a 2-1 win], but we dug in. Now we've got a few goals and we're two points off the top."

Fabion Simms was on target in the 4-0 win over Redbridge in Ryman North on Bank Holiday Monday, following up his goal in the 5-1 FA Cup thrashing of Southend Manor two days earlier.

But Knight was quick to distance himself from claims that Simms has broken off the shackles caused by covering for the now departed Dave Cowley, which meant he played a more defensive role last season.

"He is a top player; we are lucky to have him," said Knight.

"Cyrus [Gordon] has been taking the workload off him and this has allowed Fab to get in the box more. [Louis] Perkins has also come in and as a three they have looked decent. But we are always going to miss a player of Dave [Cowley's] quality."

With Cowley's departure,

Knight revealed that Hawks boss Danny Chapman was hopeful of bringing in "one or two more midfielders" to provide more competition for places.

Harlow were fantastic against Redbridge with Dadson terrorising the visitors' defence.

"He frightened them to death. They did not want to go near him. He was unplayable," said Knight.

Harlow went ahead on 22 minutes. Perkins' corner was headed goalwards by Alex Read, who saw it bounce off the bar and down into the goalmouth, and Simms reacted quickly to head in. Dadson grabbed his first two minutes before half-time. He ran on to a long hopeful ball from Ibrahima Sonko and chipped it over the advancing keeper.

Dadson added Harlow's third on 86 minutes, rifling home, and then completed his treble a minute later with a close-range shot.

But Knight ended with a note of caution. He said: "We have only won three in a row – not ten. And we have a tough game at Brightlingsea this Saturday."

However, Mohammed Akthar was batting well, before finally holing out to Mustanser Meraj on the boundary for 78 off the bowling of Dennis Perry.

Vasani then claimed another five victims, leaving Orsett on 206 all out in 51 overs.

After an extended break for tea and rain, Harlow lost both openers Hafiz Yawar (27) and Alan Jones to dubious lbw decisions, off the bowling of Karkoski, who also went on to pick up two more victims taking figures of 4-57 from his 14 overs.

Despite Baxter's brave resistance, acquiring Harlow's highest score of 43, Akthar bamboozled the tailenders picking up 5-19 off 6.5 overs.

Harlow were bowled out for just 134 from 40.5 overs.

The victory helped Orsett ease their relegation fears.

Bedford up next after Hawks cruise past Southend

FA Cup preliminary round

Harlow Tn	5
Southend Manor	1

THE Hawks will host Evo-Stik Southern League Division One Central side Bedford Town a week on Saturday in the FA Cup first round qualifying.

This was after Harlow Town secured a 5-1 win over Southend

Manor last Saturday in the preliminary round.

Junior Dadson gave Harlow Town a fourth-minute lead, rounding the keeper after a great pass from Louis Perkins.

On the stroke of half-time Ryan Melaugh hit a piledriver of a shot to make it 2-0.

Southend shocked The Harlow Arena by making it 2-1 when Reis Meecham netted on 49 minutes.

But Dadson struck minutes later to renew Harlow Town's two-goal cushion when he chested the ball down, turned and fired a low shot into the left corner.

With 15 minutes left, Leon Antoine's blocked shot fell kindly to Fabion Simms, who stabbed home the fourth.

Sub Harry Prince fired in a late fifth.

There was still time for Harlow to hit a post, in-form Dadson denied a hat-trick with a powerful strike.

Hawks assistant boss Spencer Knight admitted they were pleased to avoid some of the bigger teams and are hopeful they can put a run together in the Cup, where big sums can be made.

"Bedford Town are the same level as us. The top teams from the league above are in at this stage but we have avoided one of those," he said.

Harlow visit Brightlingsea on Saturday before hosting Barkingside on Tuesday.
